MUTUAL FUNDS

A mutual fund is a type of financial vehicle made up of a pool of money collected from many investors to invest in securities like stocks, bonds, money market instruments, and other assets. Mutual funds are operated by professional money managers, who allocate the fund's assets and attempt to produce capital gains or income for the fund's investors. The mutual fund prospectus is a document from the mutual fund company that explains the important features of the mutual fund(s) that you are buying, including compensation and fees specific to each product. Details regarding how applicable fees are calculated and charged to you, as well as your rights of rescission and withdrawal are outlined in the mutual fund prospectus. It is recommended that you read the prospectus carefully and retain it for future reference, together with all other information pertaining to your investment(s), which has been provided to you. A mutual fund's portfolio is structured and maintained to match the investment objectives stated in its prospectus.

Mutual funds give individual investors access to professionally managed portfolios of equities, bonds and other securities. Each shareholder, therefore, participates proportionally in the gains or losses of the fund. Mutual funds invest in a vast number of securities,

ALTERNATIVE MUTUAL FUNDS

Funds in the Alternative Strategies category employ alternative strategies such as short selling or other forms of leverage. Funds may use speculative strategies as well as hedging strategies. A fund is classified as Alternative Strategies if 1) short selling exceeds 5% in any one security or if total short positions exceed 20% of the total fund value; and/or 2) the fund's investment mandate specifically includes use of alternative strategies.

MUTUAL FUNDS ARE NOT GUARANTEED

Mutual funds, although redeemable on any business day, are not guaranteed and are subject to daily fluctuations in market value. The historical performance of mutual funds is not an indication or guarantee of future performance, and past performance may not be repeated. Although redeemable on any business day, professionally managed investment funds are considered to be long-term investments, as their market value(s) may fluctuate over short periods of time.

EXEMPT MARKET PRODUCTS

The "exempt market" describes a section of Canada's capital markets where securities can be sold without the protections associated with a prospectus, and therefore require less disclosure than a prospectus offering. There are three main risks in the exempt market:

1. Risk of loss. Investing in the exempt market is risky. You could lose your entire investment.
- 2.. Lack of information. Companies raising money through a prospectus exemption may not be required to provide the same amount of information as a public company.
3. Locked-in investment. You may not be able to resell an exempt market security when you need or want to. Exempt securities typically aren't publicly traded, so you might not be able to sell your investment quickly or at all. This is also known as liquidity risk.

QFGI also offers EMD products on its shelf with the FE load version, which provide certain liquidity option if client submit withdraw notice in advance. EMD is highly risky investments. It's only for qualified investors. No secondary market is available or, may develop, investors can only redeem through original issuers, which is not guaranteed at all time; Returns, if any, on investments held to maturity are taxed as dividend income. Proceeds arising from redemption, however, are taxed as capital gains (or losses). You are requested to seek the advice of a tax professional regarding the potential tax implications of your investment.

- Depending on the investment strategies that may be adopted to generate the potentially positive returns expected of an EMD, a variety of fees may be imposed. The total cost of fees may or may not be disclosed in the OM or marketing materials provided to you. The payment of these fees may decrease the return on your investment.

You may have one or more plans that are described on the plan page of the KYC. Each plan, such as an RRSP, TFSA, RESP, or open (non-registered), LIRA, LIF, RIF, RDSP and Group RRSP has its own set of KYC information including account type, risk tolerance, investment objective, and time horizon.

Your investments may be held in one of the following types of accounts:

Client Name – The investments in a client name account are registered in your name at each respective fund company or other product provider. Your signature is required to authorize any transaction in a client name account unless you have signed a Limited Trading Authorization (“LTA”) which allows your Advisor to accept instructions without your signature in some circumstances and maintain adequate notes.

Intermediary – QFGI uses B2B Bank Financial Services Inc. (“B2B”) / or “Olympian Financial” as an Intermediary. The investments in an intermediary account are registered in the name of the intermediary at each respective fund company or other product provider. You will receive the intermediary’s fee schedule when you open an intermediary account and when there are any changes to the schedule. You will also receive monthly/quarterly statements, and charges and compensation reports from B2B and/or Olympia.

DEFINING KNOW YOUR CLIENT (“KYC”) TERMS

The following definitions should assist you in understanding the KYC process.

RISK TOLERANCE

Often investors want investments that will provide them with high returns at little or no risk. There’s no such thing as “risk-free” investment. Investments that provide an opportunity to earn greater returns are usually those that carry a greater element of risk. This documents your willingness and ability to assume risk and should reflect the relative weighting of the types of investments you wish to hold in the account. The value of the investments should not exceed your risk tolerance weighting. Risk levels can be described as:

1. Low

Low risk investments demonstrate a low volatility and are for investors who are willing to accept lower returns for greater safety of capital.

2. Low to Medium

Low to Medium risk investments demonstrate a low to medium volatility but a higher volatility than those described above.

3. Medium

Medium risk investments demonstrate a medium volatility and are for investors that are looking for moderate growth over a longer period of time.

4. Medium to High

Medium to High risk investments demonstrate a medium to high volatility and are for investors that are looking for long term growth.

5. High

High risk investments demonstrate a high volatility and are for investors who are growth oriented and are willing to accept significant short term fluctuations in portfolio value in exchange for potentially higher long-term returns. This may include Labour-sponsored venture capital funds or funds that invest in specific market sectors or geographical areas such as emerging markets, science and technology, or funds that engage in speculative trading strategies, including hedge funds that invest in derivatives, short sell or use leverage.

INVESTMENT OBJECTIVE

The investment objective information provided by you is intended to document the result you desire from your investments and should reflect the relative type(s) of investments you wish to hold in your plan. Definitions for the investment objective terms are included below.

1. Safety

Your primary objective is Safety of capital; you desire stability and you often hold a high concentration of fixed-income (e.g. GIC’s) or money market investments to help protect your capital. You often desire minimal volatility. Typically, you are willing to accept lower returns as a trade-off for lower risk and you might only be investing your money for the short-term.

2. Income

Your objective is to generate current income from your investments, and you are less concerned with capital appreciation. Investments that will satisfy this objective include fixed income investments such as funds that invest in bond or money market instruments.

3. Growth

Your objective is capital appreciation and current income from investments is not a primary requirement. You would generally have medium to high risk tolerance. This may lead you to hold a relatively high proportion of funds that invest in equities.

4. Aggressive Growth (Speculation)

Generally, you desire higher risk investments which generally have a higher volatility with the expectation, but not guarantee, of higher returns in capital appreciation.

INVESTMENT KNOWLEDGE

Some investors may know a great deal about investing and the various types of investments, while others will know very little. The following are the definitions for the different categories of Investment Knowledge:

1. Novice

You have little to no knowledge of finances, investments and the markets.

2. Fair

You are familiar with some of the basics and understand the difference between stocks, bonds and mutual funds. You have had a little experience in investing.

3. Good

You are aware of different investment options and risk levels associated with them. You have had average to more than average experience in investing.

4. Sophisticated

You have a thorough understanding of investments, investment strategies, market risks and market volatility. You have had extensive experience in investing.

TIME HORIZON

This is the period from now to when you will need to access a significant portion of the money you invest in the account.

PROCEDURE REGARDING THE HANDLING OF CASH AND CHEQUES

Queen Financial Group Inc. (QFGI) and your advisor cannot under any circumstance accept cash for the purchase of securities. Your purchase can be done using a personalized cheque made payable to the fund management company from which you are purchasing your securities. Under no circumstance should a cheque be made payable to your advisor or another person in the branch office.

SUITABILITY OF ACCEPTED / RECOMMENDED ORDERS

Queen Financial Group Inc. (QFGI) and your advisor are required under securities legislation and MFDA Rules to ensure that each recommendation made to you is suitable based on your investment objectives, risk tolerance and other personal circumstances. We are also required to make a suitability determination on any proposed trades, including those proposed by you, the client.

In addition to assessing suitability at the time of the account opening, the following circumstances will trigger an assessment of the suitability of the investments in your account:

- If you transfer assets from another institution into your account with QFGI
- When we become aware of a material change in your personal and financial situation
- If you change financial advisors with QFGI

The Dealing Representative has the right, solely for their own protection, to determine in their discretion whether or not any order for transactions in mutual funds, or exempt products is acceptable and whether to execute said order.

RISK OF BORROWING TO INVEST

Here are some risks and factors that you should consider before borrowing to invest:

Is it Right for You?

Borrowing money to invest is risky. You should only consider borrowing to invest if:

- You are comfortable with taking risk.
- You are comfortable taking on debt to buy investments that may go up or down in value.
- You are investing for the long-term.
- You have a stable income.

You should not borrow to invest if:

- You have a low tolerance for risk.
- You are investing for a short period of time.
- You intend to rely on income from the investments to pay living expenses.
- You intend to rely on income from investments to repay the loan. If this income stops or decreases, you may not be able to pay back the loan.

You Can End Up Losing Money

If the investments go down in value and you have borrowed money, your losses would be larger than had you invested using your own money.

Whether your investments make money or not you will still have to pay back the loan plus interest. You may have to sell other assets or use money you had set aside for other purposes to pay back the loan.

If you used your home as security for the loan, you may lose your home.

If the investments go up in value, you may still not make enough money to cover the costs of borrowing.

Tax Considerations

You should not borrow to invest just to receive a tax deduction.

Interest costs are not always tax deductible. You may not be entitled to a tax deduction and may be reassessed for past deductions. You may want to consult a tax professional to determine whether your interest costs will be deductible before borrowing to invest.

Your advisor should discuss with you the risks of borrowing to invest.

CONFLICT OF INTEREST DISCLOSURE

At Queen Financial Group Inc., our Advisors have always operated with a client-first philosophy and in the best interests of their clients.

What is a conflict of interest?

A conflict of interest includes any circumstances where:

- The interest of the Advisor (or the dealer) is divergent from or is placed above that of the client.
- The Advisor is influenced to put their interests ahead of their client's interests (e.g. Through monetary or non-monetary incentives).

It's possible that conflicts of interest may arise when conducting business with our clients. In the event such a conflict arises, we will immediately advise the client in writing of the conflict and will ensure that the conflict is addressed in a way that is in the client's best interest.

This conflict disclosure will:

- Specify the nature and extent other conflict of interest
- Identify the potential impact and risk that it may pose to the client.
- Indicate how the conflict has been or will be addressed.

QFGI must comply with the legislative requirements regarding any conflicts of interest that arise while performing activities as a dealer. QFGI must ensure that any actual or potential conflict of interest is promptly disclosed to the client. QFGI must address material conflicts of interest by either avoiding those conflicts or by using controls to mitigate those conflicts sufficiently so that the conflicts addressed in the client's best interest.

DUAL OCCUPATION AND OUTSIDE ACTIVITIES

A QFGI Advisor may be involved in outside activities (occupations or volunteer), provided that it is approved by QFGI. If QFGI determines that this outside activity presents a conflict that can be managed through proper disclosure, the QFGI (Advisors) will provide the client with clear disclosure.

DUAL LICENSE DISCLOSURE STATEMENT

An Advisor is sponsored by QFGI to offer mutual funds and other investment products. As a licensed life insurance representative, the QFGI Advisor may also market and sell insurance products offered by a life insurance company. Depending on the products the client is purchasing, the client will be working with one or a combination of companies. The Advisor will be compensated by the companies providing the insurance products, mutual funds, and investment products that the client purchases. QFGI does not foresee any conflict of interest arising from the Advisor being dually licensed as a life insurance representative for insurance products and as a mutual fund Advisors for investment products, as disclosed above. All business activities undertaken by the Advisor that are not specifically designated as QFGI business interests are not the responsibility of QFGI, nor does QFGI assume any liability for such activity.

OUTSIDE ACTIVITY

When assessing an Advisor's outside activity for approval, QFGI will consider the following:

- Whether the individual will have sufficient time to properly carry out their registerable activities including remaining current on securities law and product knowledge
- Whether the individual will be able to properly service clients
- The risk of client confusion

- Whether the outside activity presents a conflict of interest for the individual and whether that conflict should be avoided or can be appropriately controlled
- Undue influence: Whether the outside activity places the individual in a position of power or influence over clients or potential clients, in particular clients that may be vulnerable.
- Whether the outside activity provides the individual with access to privileged, confidential or insider information relevant to their registerable activities. There are a number of activities that may be restricted or prohibited and take into account that the activity potentially places the Advisor in a position of power or influence over clients, and in particular, vulnerable clients.

OUTSIDE ACTIVITY DISCLOSURE

Once an Advisor has received approval from QFGI to engage in an outside activity, the Advisor will provide an Outside Activity Disclosure to the client at the time of the KYC /NCAF update. At the time of the disclosure, the advisor should include the following points in their discussion.

- The nature and extent of the conflict of interest
- If a conflict of interest exists, the potential impact and risk to the client.
- How the conflict of interest has been, or will be, addressed?

Where Outside Activity pertains to volunteerism, if there is no conflict of interest, disclosure is unnecessary.

This disclosure will be given to the client before opening an account when applicable. In cases where there has been a considerable time lapse between providing the client with the conflict of interest disclosure and the actual time when the activity is to take place, the Advisor will disclose the transaction-related conflict to the client shortly before the engagement of the transaction.

Queen Financial Group Inc. (QFGI) is an independent mutual fund dealer, exempt market dealer. As such, QFGI is authorized to solicit and place purchase and redemption orders for mutual fund securities and exempt products.

As a registered Dealer, QFGI is permitted to receive monetary or nonmonetary compensation relating to the sale of mutual funds to investors as outlined in National Instrument 81-105. All monetary compensation and non-monetary compensation must be paid directly to QFGI and not to any Advisor, employee, director or officer of QFGI.

DEFERRED SALES CHARGE(DSC) AND LOW LOAD (LL) COMMISSION

DSC and LL funds for mutual fund are no longer available for purchase. Existing clients who own DSC and LL funds will be charged a redemption fee if they redeem before the maturity period.

There are still DSC and LL funds for EMD products, all commission and locked in period are being disclosed on OEF prior to transactions.

TRAILING COMMISSIONS

QFGI and its representatives will also be paid an ongoing commission (trailer fee) from the fund manager for as long as you hold the investment. Trailer fees provided by mutual fund companies are generally comparable, QFGI does not promote one fund company over the other based on trailer fees. QFGI will monitor sales activities to make sure Advisors do not promote a mutual fund that pays higher trailer fees than other comparable funds.

FEE FOR SERVICE

Fees charged for fee-based accounts are restricted to a maximum amount and will generally not exceed fees charged by an embedded fee structure.

model. Advisors also evaluate on an ongoing basis whether a fee-based compensation arrangement is in the best interest of the client given the client's circumstances, investment needs and objectives, and the level of accountability. QFGI has implemented controls to make sure that fees are not charged on funds with an embedded fee structure. There may also be other fees and costs charged by the fund manager depending on the nature of your investment. Please review your fund company prospectus or fund facts document for a more detailed description of compensation payable to QFGI and other costs associated with your investment. You may also speak to your Representative for more information about the nature of any fees or compensation.

FUND COMPANY INCENTIVES AND PROMOTIONAL ITEMS

QFGI is responsible to ensure that its Advisors do not receive excessive nonmonetary benefits from fund companies that have the potential to influence them to act in a manner that is not in the best interest of their client.

Non-monetary benefits may include but are not limited to:

- Trips, food, beverages, entertainment, sporting event tickets, rounds of golf, invitations to seminars or conferences and any other goods or services that could be perceived to be of benefit to the recipient. QFGI is prohibited from providing financial incentives to Advisors in order to promote the sale of one mutual fund over another. The commissions paid directly to QFGI may vary by Fund Company; however, commission rates paid to Advisors will be constant regardless of the individual mutual fund sold. Only QFGI can pay commission to an Advisor. Under no circumstances should an Advisor solicit or accept commission directly from a fund company.

Cash in any amount must not be accepted or given as a gift or favor under any circumstances.

QFGI annually tracks fund company incentives and requires fund company confirmation of its promotional item policies and limits. Permission for ongoing fund company events is contingent upon the fund company's cooperation with QFGI.

COMPENSATION AND PRODUCT SUITABILITY

It is the client's interest, not the Advisor's interest that must guide the recommendations made by an Advisor to their clients. Advisors must put clients' interest first when recommending one product or service over another. Advisors must not recommend a product or service because it pays them better than suitable alternative products available.

REFERRAL ARRANGEMENTS

Advisors must determine that making a referral is in the client's best interest and that the benefits received by the client outweigh other alternatives. Referral fees paid to QFGI are disclosed in the referral fee disclosure document and are paid to QFGI by the entity participating in the referral arrangement. These fees are deducted from the management fees charged by the participating entity and are not charged to the client.

REFERRAL ARRANGEMENTS DISCLOSURE

QFGI Advisors must provide clients that are deemed suitable to engage in a referral arrangement a disclosure document prior to any transaction taking place. This document will include the names of the parties involved in the referral arrangement; the services offered by each party, any conflicts of interest that may arise from this referral arrangement and the method of calculating the referral fee.

Advisors would be considered acting beyond the limits of their registration if they:

- Assisted a client in completing account opening documents for the other entity to which they are being referred.
- Provided advice with respect to the products or services the other entity is able to provide
- Received or accessed account information from the other entity detailing the trading activities conducted outside of QFPI, without written consent from the client
- Participated (provide input or comments) in meetings where clients are given investment advice with respect to an account of the other entity
- Recommended specific products (e.g., stock of a particular company)

LOANS

Advisors are prohibited from engaging in personal financial dealings with clients. Borrowing from or lending to clients for any reason is not permitted.

GIFTS

Advisors are not allowed to accept or provide clients with gifts over a specified value. Entertainment is allowed, but should not be of excessive or unreasonable value. Cash in any amount must not be accepted or given as a gift or favour under any circumstances.

POWER OF ATTORNEY (POA) EXECUTOR AND TRUSTEE

Advisors cannot act as a POA, Executor or Trustee for a client unless the client is a Related Person of the Advisor, as defined by the Income Tax Act (Canada).

FINANCIAL OR BUSINESS DEALINGS WITH CLIENTS

Advisors must not have personal financial or business dealings with an individual or company who does business with QFGI. Business relationships with clients other than those involving QFGI products and services should be avoided. Private investment schemes or clubs are prohibited. The buying or selling of property or other items from, to, or with a client can affect an Advisor's dealings with the client and must be avoided. Contributions to a client's account or paying for adjustments to a client's investments without QFGI's knowledge and approval are not allowed.

OTHER TYPE OF CONFLICTS

Advisors are not permitted to establish Pre-Authorized Contributions (PAC) or a Systematic Withdrawal Plan (SWP) which links a mutual fund account in their own name to a client's bank account. Similarly, a client's mutual fund account must not be linked to an Advisor's bank account. The address of any client on the records of QFGI must be that of the client or such other address as the client may direct. It cannot be that of the investment representative's personal or business address.

RELATED AND CONNECTED ISSUERS

Under certain circumstances, QFGI may deal with you, or for you, in securities-related transactions, where the issuer of those securities has a related or connected relationship with QFGI. As a result of common ownership, QFGI is related to the following party:

- . RIFO FINTECH Group Inc.— Holding company of Queen Financial Group Inc.
- . Queen International Group Inc. (Pending change approval)
- . RIFO Mortgage Services Inc. (Lic: #13428)
- . RIFO Realty Trust Fund.
- . RIFO Realty Capital Inc.
- . Queen Wealth Management Inc.

In addition to applicable regulatory and contractual provision respecting any business arrangements that may exist between QFGI and the above entities, as well as Advisors, the directors, officers, and employees are subject to guidelines, codes of conduct and regulatory obligations.

INFORMATION ON QFGI AND AFFILIATES

QFGI is wholly owned by an independent shareholder. QFGI branches must display adequate signage in the office.

BUSINESS TITLES AND DESIGNATIONS

Advisors are not permitted to use business titles that are misleading or are perceived as qualification and experience in areas where the advisor has not received any proficiency training. A registered individual in a client-facing relationship is not permitted to use a corporate officer title, such as president or vice president. Advisors who wish to use a business title or designation on their business cards and other stationery must submit this request along with evidence of proficiency to QFGI compliance for approval.

CONTENT AND FREQUENCY OF REPORTING

Queen Financial Group Inc. (QFGI) will provide you with a quarterly statement for each of your accounts, which will contain information about your investment holdings and any transactions that occurred during the period. On an annual basis, as part of your year-end account statement, QFGI will provide you with annual reporting on the performance of your investments, as well as charges and compensation.

After each exempt market transaction, you will receive written confirmation (Trade confirmation) by mail, of the transaction details, usually within 2 business days of the transaction. In the instance of the first systematic transactions (pre-authorized contributions, systematic withdrawal plans, etc.) a confirmation will be issued. Subsequent Systematic transactions will not generate further confirmations; the details of these transactions will be included in your account statement.

The trade confirmation will include the following information:

- the quantity and description of the security purchased or sold;
- the price per security paid or received by you;
- the amount of each transaction charge, deferred sales charge or other charge in respect of the transaction and the total amount of all charges in respect of the transaction;
- the name of QFGI;
- whether or not QFGI is acting as principal or agent;
- if acting as agent, the name of the person or company from or to or through whom the security was bought or sold;
- the type of the account through which the trade was effected;
- the name of the Approved Person, if any, involved in the transaction;
- the date of the trade;
- the settlement date of the transaction;
- and if applicable, that the security was issued by a related or connected issuer of QFGI. This information is not required to be provided where the names of the Member and the mutual fund are sufficiently similar to indicate that they are affiliated or related.

For all the other mutual fund transactions related to client name and intermediary accounts, the trade confirmation will be sent by the Fund Company or Intermediary (B2B) within 3 to 5 business days of the transaction.

ANNUAL PERFORMANCE REPORTING

1. CHANGE IN VALUE OF YOUR INVESTMENTS ACCOUNT:

The information in this part is set out in three sections and provide you with changes in value of your account: i) since the opening with QFGI or since January 01 2016, whichever is later and ii) during the past year.

2. YOUR PERSONAL RATE OF RETURN:

The Performance Report provides your personal rate of return for your investments expressed as the total percentage return of your account, after charges have been deducted. This information is provided for the year covered by the report and from the date you first opened your account and depending on how long your account has been opened, you may also see your personal rate in return for the past three, five and ten year periods. Where market values cannot be readily available and reliably determined by QFGI in respect to the securities positions held in the account, such values shall not be included in the report and QFGI must disclose to the client in the report the security positions for which values have not been included and why the information has not been included in the report. If the account is less than 12 months old the report may not be produced.

You may assess the performance of your investments by comparing them to an investment performance benchmark. Benchmarks show the performance over time of a select group of securities. There are many different benchmarks. When choosing a benchmark, pick one that reflects your investments. For example, the S&P/TSX Composite Index tracks the share prices of the largest companies listed on the Toronto Stock Exchange. This index would be a good benchmark for assessing the performance of a Canadian equity fund that invests only in large Canadian companies. It is a poor benchmark if your investments are diversified in other sectors or geographic areas. QFGI does not provide benchmark comparisons in its client account statements. Please speak with your Advisor, should you have questions about the performance of your portfolio or the benchmark(s) that may be appropriate for you.

REPORT ON CHARGES AND OTHER COMPENSATION

As per MFDA 5.3.3, on an annual basis a Report on Charges and Other Compensation is required to be provided to all clients. This will be done on the final quarter of the year dated Dec. 31. The charges and compensation report provides a breakdown of the costs and compensation that were paid to QFGI over the past year. The report will show costs broken down into the following three categories:

AMOUNTS PAID TO THE DEALER FOR GENERAL ADMINISTRATION OF YOUR ACCOUNT:

This section sets out charges that you paid for the administration and operation of your account. Examples include administrative fees, transfer fees, RRSP fees and trustee fees. These are fees charged to your account that do not relate to specific transactions.

AMOUNTS PAID TO THE DEALER FOR SPECIFIC TRANSACTIONS:

This section sets out charges you paid relating to specific transactions in your account. Examples include frontend sales commissions and switching fees. These types of charges do not apply to all investments.

AMOUNTS THE DEALER RECEIVED FROM OTHERS TO SERVICE YOUR ACCOUNT:

This section sets out compensation your dealer received from third parties. These amounts are included in the price of the mutual fund that you purchase. While you do not pay these directly of “out-of-pocket”, these are amounts affect you because they reduce the investment’s return to you. Examples include trailing commissions and commissions from deferred sales charge mutual funds. The compensation paid to a dealer is not the same for all investments.

INVESTMENT FEES

You must pay certain fees when you choose to invest. Not all fees may apply in your particular case.

PRE-TRADE DISCLOSURE OF FEES AND CHARGES

Charges specific to transactions in any accounts held by you will be disclosed to you before we conduct the transaction. This disclosure will be either written or verbal and will either establish a practice for all transaction charges or will be with regard to each individual transaction.

We urge you to read the prospectus or fund facts for more information on applicable fees and to discuss this matter with your representative.

Following are the various fees that may be associated with your investments:

FEES RELATED TO MUTUAL FUNDS

1. REDEMPTION FEES:

i) Deferred Sales Charge (DSC): If the client makes any redemption within a specific time period, the client will be charged a redemption fee. This penalty declines over time, falling from 5% to 6% of the market value of the units held by the client at the beginning to zero after six to eight years. The Fund Facts provide the client with detailed information regarding these types of purchases prior to any transaction.

ii) Low-load (LL): Identical to DSC but with a lower penalty (between 2% and 4% of the market value of the units held by the client) and declining over a shorter period (reaching zero after two to four years).

2. MANAGEMENT FEES AND MANAGEMENT EXPENSE RATIO (MER):

Should you choose to hold mutual funds within your accounts you may pay management fees and/or transaction fees, depending on the fund. All mutual funds charge management fees which are deducted from the funds’ assets and used to pay the fund company’s expenses such as legal and accounting fees, brokerage fees, interest expenses, applicable taxes and profit margin. These are charged as a percentage of the fund asset value and are disclosed in the fund prospectus and annual information form or offering memorandum. Some funds distribute a portion of that fee to the distributor (in this case QFGI and its Financial Advisors) in the form of a service fee that covers the costs related to the financial advice you get from your representative. These fees, usually ranging from 1% to 3% of the fund’s assets under management. No Service Fee is included or charged in Series F funds, which are intended for fee-based accounts and therefore have a lower MER, usually between 0.5% and 2.0% of the market value of each fund. As an investor in the Fund, you don’t pay these costs directly, but it affects you as it reduces the return of the Fund. The MER of the Fund is a factor that we consider before recommending it for your account.

3. TRAILING COMMISSION:

QFGI and its Advisors will also be paid an ongoing commission (trailer fee) from the fund manager for as long as you hold the investment. Trailer fees provided by mutual fund companies are generally comparable, QFGI does not promote one fund company over the other based on trailer fees. QFGI will monitor sales activities to make sure Advisors do not promote a mutual fund that pays higher trailer fees than other comparable funds.

4. SHORT-TERM TRANSACTION FEES:

A redemption or transfer too soon after a purchase may result in a special penalty ranging from 1% to 2% of the market value of the units held by the client. This will occur if a transaction is requested within 90 days (or within seven to 30 days in some cases: check the relevant fund prospectus or fund facts). These fees do not usually apply to cash equivalent funds (money market, savings account, etc.). Neither QFGI nor your Advisor receives any portion of the short-term trading fee.

5. SWITCH FEES:

A fund may be switched for another one, subject to a switch fee. Charging switch fees is relatively uncommon, as they tend to make Advisors business less competitive in the eyes of the client. To take a large number of clients and impose a switch fee for transactions that Advisor recommended is not permitted by QFGI.

6. FEE FOR SERVICE:

Fees charged for fee-based accounts are restricted to a maximum amount and will generally not exceed fees charged by an embedded fee structure model. Advisors also evaluate on an ongoing basis whether a fee-based compensation arrangement is in the best interest of the client given the client's circumstances, investment needs and objectives, and the level of account activity. QFGI has implemented controls to make sure that fees are not charged on funds with an embedded fee structure. There may also be other fees and costs charged by the fund manager depending on the nature of your investment. Please review your fund company prospectus or fund facts document for a more detailed description of compensation payable to QFGI and other costs associated with your investment. You may also speak to your Advisor for more information about the nature of any fees or compensation.

7. ANNUAL FEE:

Intermediary and nominee accounts will incur an annual fee for each registered account and there will be a fee for full or partial withdrawals from the account. Intermediary and nominee accounts, both registered and non-registered, may also incur a fee for certain types of transactions such as the purchase of prospectus-exempt securities in the account. Full details are available in the fee schedule for the account.

8. TEN PERCENT (10%) FREE SWITCHES

Most DSC funds and some LL funds allow you to redeem up to 10% of your units each year without incurring the deferred sales charge. This privilege is usually not cumulative; that is, if you do not use it during a year it expires for that year and you cannot redeem 20% of your units on a fee-free basis the following year. Your Advisor may recommend switching these DSC-free units to another fund that does not have a DSC in order to give you greater flexibility with your investments. There is no fee or charge to make these switches; however, your Advisor may receive a higher service fee from the new fund and the switch may create a taxable gain or loss in a non-registered account.

Fees, expenses and charges paid directly by the account or indirectly through an investment fund will reduce the overall return on your account. You must keep this in mind when comparing your account's performance with that of the investment performance benchmark indexes that we may provide, because such benchmarks generally do not take fees, expenses and charges into account.

WHAT YOU RECEIVE FOR THE INVESTMENT FEES AND CHARGES

The fees and charges related to your investments pay for the services that you receive directly from your Advisor, as well as the costs related to our business operations. QFGI's costs include regulatory filing fees, Error and Omission insurance, staff for regulatory compliance and transaction processing, audits, technology and computer systems, office rent and other office costs, travel, and education. Each Advisor operates as a financial planning business and from the portion of fees that they receive, they have to pay for their own office and staff costs, technology services, continuing education, and other business expenses.

Advisors provide you with recommendations about asset allocation, investment strategies, and specific investment products. In addition, Advisors may provide advice and services such as financial and retirement planning, tax planning, estate planning, debt management, and budgeting.

INFORMATION ON BENCHMARKS

According to the Canadian Securities Administrators, a benchmark is a market or sector index against which the performance of the mutual fund can be measured. For example, if a fund invests mainly in Canadian stocks, the benchmark might be the S&P/TSX Composite Index, which tracks companies trading on the Toronto Stock Exchange. By comparing a fund to an appropriate benchmark, you can see how the investments held by the fund performed compared to the market or sector in general.

TRUSTED CONTACT PERSON AND TEMPORARY HOLDS

When you open an account (other than a business account) with us, we will ask you for the name and contact information for a trusted contact person and your consent to contact the trusted contact person in certain circumstances. A trusted contact person is generally someone we can contact to confirm or make inquiries about possible financial exploitation, or if we have concerns about your mental capacity as it relates to your ability to make financial decisions ("Trusted Contact Person"). Financial exploitation generally means the use or control of, or deprivation of the use or control of, a financial asset through undue influence, unlawful conduct or another wrongful act. We may also contact your Trusted Contact Person to confirm your current contact information if we cannot reach you after multiple attempts, or to confirm the name and contact information of a legal guardian, if any. You can replace or revoke your Trusted Contact Person at any time. If we reasonably believe that you are in a vulnerable position and are being financially exploited or that you are experiencing diminished mental capacity which may affect your ability to make financial decisions relating to your account(s) with us, we may place a temporary hold on a particular transaction. A vulnerable position includes where an illness, impairment, disability or aging-process limitation places you at risk of financial exploitation. If we place a temporary hold on a particular transaction, we will provide you with notice, either written or verbal, explaining our reasons for the temporary hold, and at least every 30 days thereafter until the temporary hold is revoked. We may also contact your Trusted Contact Person about a temporary hold.

BENEFICIARIES

a) The appointment of a beneficiary shall apply to registered plans only, and does not apply in Quebec. In some provinces, the beneficiary can be appointed or revoked only through a will, and certain laws may take precedence over your spouse's right. QFGI cannot be held liable for the validity of the beneficiary designation made on the New Account Application Form or any other form related to beneficiary designation. If the beneficiary should die before you, the money shall be paid to your estate.

b) Beneficiary of a Tax-free Savings Account ("TFSA"): The appointment of a beneficiary is only applicable in provinces where the designation is allowed by the law.
